FINES IMPOSED AT SESSION OF COURT

Brickmakers Pay $5 and Costs on Assault Charge

O'NEIL CASE IS CONTINUED

Prosecutor Will Probe Complaint Made by Whitham—Local Man Meets With Slight Accident in New Britain—Berlin News Items.

In the Berlin town court last evening, Samuel Kutz, Alex Bayhuck and Henry Dubouc, employees of the Stiles & Reynolds Brick company, were found guilty of assaulting Emmet J. Judge George G. Griswold fined them $5 and costs, amounting to $12 each.

The accused pleaded not guilty and testified that Julie started the trouble. They claimed that after being paid off at the brick yard Saturday afternoon they went to New Britain to have their checks cashed. Upon returning to the Berlin depot they met a friend who invited them to his home to have a drink. All four went to the house, said to be near the brick yards, where they were treated to some wine. After having several drinks they became intoxicated and an argument was started between Julie and Kutz. Julie is said to have made a statement to the effect that he did not care whether the Poles or the Bolsheviks reigned in Poland. Kutz became angered by this statement and struck Julie. Julie, in order to protect himself, drew a knife, which was taken away from him by Bayhuck. The trio then grabbed Julie and pushed him out of the house and a fight ensued in the yard during which Julie was badly beaten. It is alleged that Kutz took off his shoe and beat Julie about the face with it, knocking out several teeth.

The case of Thomas O'Neil of Kensington, charged with assaulting Arthur Whitham, was continued until this evening to allow the prosecutor
